Generation No. 1

1. STEPHEN<sup>2</sup> HOPKINS (STEPHEN<sup>1</sup>) (Source: "Mayflower Families Through Five Generations", volume six, "Hopkins", published by General Society of Mayflower Descendants, 1992..) was born Abt. 1580 in England, and died Bet. June 6 - July 17, 1644 in Plymouth, MA. He married (1) NAME UNKNOWN. She was born in England, and died Bef. 1617 in England. He married (2) ELIZABETH FISHER Abt. February 19, 1617/18 in Whitechapel, London, England. She died Aft. February 4, 1638 in Plymouth.

Notes for STEPHEN HOPKINS:

Stephen Hopkins sailed on the Mayflower in 1620. Was one of the Londoners or strangers recruited for the voyage. He was called Master, and only two other of the 17 free men on the voyage were styled. Stephen was called a tanner or leather maker at the time of the Mayflower voyage. He seems to have originated from the family of Hopkins, alias Seborne, located for several generations at Wortley, Wooton Underedge, Gloucester County, England. Although Stephen of the Mayflower may well have been a son of Stephen Hopkins, a clothier of Wortley, who also had a son Robert Hopkins of London. Two indentured servants (Edward Doty and Edward Lister) came with Hopkins on the Mayflower.

Stephen Hopkins was probably the young man of that name who served as minister's clerk on the vessel Sea Venture which sailed from London June 2, 1609, bound for Virginia. The ship was severely damaged in a hurricane and the company was washed ashore on the Bermuda "Isle of the Divels" on July 28, 1609. The 150 survivors were marooned on the island for nine months, building two vessels which ultimately took them to Virginia.

During the sojourn, Stephen Hopkins encouraged an uprising by his fellows upon the grounds that the Governor's authority pertained only to the voyage and the regime in Virginia, not to the forced existence in Bermuda. For his remarks, he was placed under guard, brought before the company in manacles and sentenced to death by court-martial. "But so pentent hee was and made so much moane, alleadging the ruine of his Wife and Children: in this his trespasse", according to William Starchey's record of the voyage, that friends among his cohorts procured a pardon from the Governor.

The two newly built vessels, Patience and Deliverance, arrived at Jamestown on May 24, 1610, but no evidence has been found of Hopkins' residence there, and it is presumed he soon returned to his family in England. While Hopkins was very religious, he was contentious and defiant of authority and possessed enough learning to undertake to wrest leadership from others.

Stephen Hopkins was not only one of the first men among the Pilgrims, but he had extraordinary fortune in being concerned with many of the first things that happened to the colonists, whether for good or evil. Thus, he was one of the signers of the first Declaration of Independence in the New World- the famous Compact, drawn up and signed in the cabin of the Mayflower, November 21, 1620. He was a member of the first expedition that left the ship to find a place for landing; he was in the first party that went ashore at Plymouth Rock; he was the first white man of the colony to entertain an Indian at his house overnight. He went, with Gov. Winslow and Squantum, on the first embassy sent to Massasoit to conclude a treaty; he was a member of the first Council of Governor's Assistants after the incorporation of Plymouth- a position to which he was chosen for three years in succession (1632-1635); and to this we may add that his two servants, Edward Leister and Edward Doty, fought the first duel on record in New England. He is repeatedly mentioned in the records of the colonies.

He seems to have been Fairly prosperous, for toward the close of his life we find him purchasing a share in a vessel of 40 to 50 tons, valued at two hundred pounds sterling.

On June 6, 1644, he made his will. The exact date of his death is unknown; but it must have been before July 17, for then his inventory was taken. In his will, witnessed by Gov. Bradford and Capt. Standish, he passes by his oldest son, Giles, and makes Caleb, the only son of his second wife, his heir and executor.

9. CALEB<sup>4</sup> HOPKINS (GILES<sup>3</sup>, STEPHEN<sup>2</sup>, STEPHEN<sup>1</sup>) (Source: (1) MD "Mayflower Descendant", 1899-1937, 7:236., (2) MD "Mayflower Descendant", 1899-1937, 8:240., (3) Father's will, 1:111.) was born Abt. January 1649 in Eastham, MA, and died Bef. May 22, 1728 in Truro, MA. He married MARY WILLIAMS Bef. May 10, 1692 in Eastham, Barnstable Co., MA, daughter of THOMAS WILLIAMS and ELIZABETH TART. She was born Abt. 1660 in Prob. Eastham, MA, and died Bet. May 26, 1709 - 1712 in Harwich, Barnstable Co., MA.

Notes for CALEB HOPKINS:

Caleb probably married second Mary -unknown- , who died before May 22, 1728 and otherwise unidentified. Notice the gaps between the births of the older children and that of daughter Thankful, called the daughter of "Caleb and Mary " in records. The first wife Mary Williams' parents were married November 30, 1638, and she seems too old to have had a child born in 1709.

Caleb signed as one of the first seven proprietors of Pamet (or Truro), June 17, 1690. In the settlement agreement of his estate he was called a Yeoman of Truro.

Is said was a "voluntary" with his father and older brother when about 15; called "heire apparent" in father's will, while Giles was living; Caleb and Miles Standish were executors of father's will in 1644; "became a seaman, & dyed at Barbadoes" according to Gov. Bradford. Another source says he died of starvation.

He married HANNAH ATKINS October 6, 1796 in Truro, Barnstable, MA, daughter of ZACHEUS ATKINS and MEHITABLE LOMBARD. She was born 1776, and died 1864.

Notes for CALEB UPHAM GROZIER:

In the records of the King Hiram's Lodge they have Captain Caleb U. Grozier as a member of the Lodge. His middle name is listed as Uriah instead of Upham. Records indicate that in 1821 he commanded the Provincetown schooner Charles, owned by Joshua Freeman Grozier. In 1822 he commanded the schooner Hanna and Eliza on a voyage to the Western Islands.

The Philadelphia Gazette contains the details of a horrible tragedy of Piracy involving Captain Grozier.

On the 25th of Feb. a letter was received from the Commercial Agent at Matanzas, in which he states that the brig Attentive, Grozer of Boston, sailed on the 21st inst. from that port, and that on the same day was captured by a piratical schooner and all hands were murdered except one man who was concealed. They scuttled the vessel and deserted the brig, when he came out, put the vessel before the wind, and when within three miles of the shore she sunk, and that he saved himself by swimming on a plank, which was driven along towards shore by the sea breeze. The person who escaped was Alfred Hill, 2nd mate. The brig Attentive was bound for New York.

Before the Consular Commercial Agent of the U.S., Lewis L. Shoemaker appeared Alfred Hill, who was duly sworn, declared and said- That having on board was master, Caleb U. Grozier and the vessel sailed hence on Sunday, the 22nd day of February. That off Point Yaco, was boarded and captured by a piratical schooner, about sixty or seventy tons, full of men, armed with cutlasses, and having two large guns. He heard a heavy groan from the captain and heard him distinctly repeat these words, "Lord have mercy on my soul," and heard a scuffling on deck, and groans of the people. He has no doubt, from the noise he heard, and the appearance of blood, the captain and crew were murdered.

A notice of Mary Grozier's death in the "Provincetown Advocate", November 28, 1877 on Page 2:

"...in Pond Village within the past week...

"Mrs. Grozier, or "Grandma," as she was familiarly known, was in the 92nd year of her age. She had suffered for many long years with an incurable neuralgic affliction of the face and jaws. If acute and torturing pains could kill it seems to us this poor woman must have suffered enough to have died a dozen times. She seemed to bear all those years of agonizing pains with the patient endurance of a martyr.- At last she is freed from her misery, and is at rest."

Notes for JOHN GROZIER:

In the Newspaper notice of his death is the following story about John: " When John was eighteen years of age, he was kidnapped on the coast of Cape Cod by a British Cruiser, (War of the Embargo) taken to England and thrown into Dartmoor Prison, and the tortures and cruelties suffered there would have killed a less hardy man. He, with others of his countrymen from Truro, was finally released and sent home in a brig. On the passage, while crossing the Grand Banks, their provisions ran low and were dealt out very sparingly to these released prisoners, so an attempt was made here to secure some fresh fish. John was the only one fortunate enough to catch one, a fine cod, which he threw upon the deck. The Captain picked it up with the intention of appropriating it to his own use. John sprang upon and shook him until he was glad to drop the fish, and gave him to understanding it was to be eaten in the forecabin, and it was. Long weeks on the verge of starvation had made these men desperate, and madness to have attempted to control them."

John was mentioned in Truro history with other men as staking their lives to rescue people on board the Russian brig Emeline Charlotte, in October 1833.

He had served the lifesaving service for 15 years.

He had received injuries that proved lasting at the time of the shipwreck of the schooner Oliver Ames bound from Gardiner, ME to Richmond, VA. She ran aground two miles east of Race Point on the morning of December 3, 1882. Captain Young received injuries to his knee, the wounds eventually compelled his abandonment of the work as lifesaver. The vessel's crew were saved and the vessel floated later.
